

The role of preventive maintenance in the preservation of archaeological buildings

Abdul Rahim Yousef Ahmed Makki

Abstract

This study discusses the issue of restoration and conservation of the archaeological of temples that has unique natural and cultural heritage. In its natural and cultural aspects, plays an important role in forming the memory of nations and their civilization depth, as well as their local culture. This heritage reflects the identity and civilization of these nations and the connection between their past and present, it represents clear evidence on people's originality, therefore, it must be protected, rehabilitated and developed in order to adapt with modern condition and continuous civilization changes. Also this study ended with general discussion of the results that have been discovered, as well as some important recommendation, which were determined from the study. And the preventive conservation plays a vital role in the preservation prose from historical and archaeological Paulding as well as keeping from archaeological Paulding continuous.