

Autobiography

Fathia Barouni Ben Sedrine is Professor of Sociology of professions, crafts and heritage at the University of Tunis (Tunisia). She supervised doctoral and master's degrees in universities in Tunisia, France and Canada.

She has been a member of the National Council for Consulting and Strategic Guidance for the Handicrafts Sector since 2003. She is also a member of the follow-up committee, which is responsible for the implementation of measures and ministerial decisions related to handicrafts. She is also a member of the Supreme Islamic Council headed by the Tunisian government since 2012.

She has extensive teaching experience. She took part in many professional training courses. She participated in national and international events, in committees for hiring staff and evaluation of scientific and art works in the field of handicrafts in Tunisia, Algeria, Sultanate of Oman and Saudi Arabia. She has several publications, articles and books related to the field of Sociology of professions, crafts and heritage in Arabic, French and English.